The Goldman Sachs Group, Inc. (together with its consolidated subsidiaries, the firm) has made certain changes to its business segments, consistent with its organizational changes, commencing with the fourth quarter of 2022.

Prior to the fourth quarter of 2022, the firm had four business segments: Investment Banking, Global Markets, Asset Management and Consumer & Wealth Management.

Beginning with the fourth quarter of 2022, the firm will report its results in the following three business segments: Global Banking & Markets, Asset & Wealth Management and Platform Solutions. The business segments and their revenue sources are presented below:

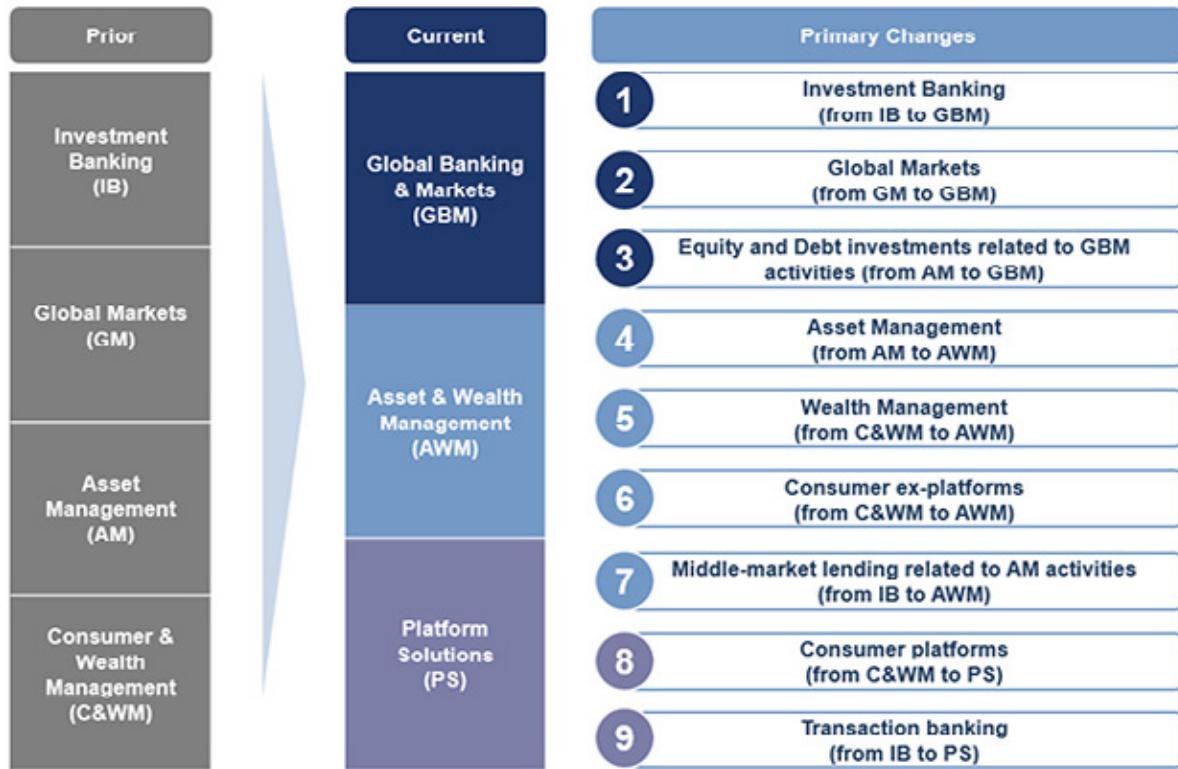

Structure

Prior results beginning with the firm's 2020 fiscal year are presented on a comparable basis in the tables on pages 4 - 5.

The changes to the firm's business segments have no effect on the firm's historical total net revenues, total provision for credit losses, total operating expenses and total pre-tax earnings in the consolidated statements of earnings. Prior period segment results have been conformed to the new business segments.

The primary changes made were as follows:

- Global Banking & Markets is a new segment that includes the results previously reported in Investment Banking and Global Markets, and additionally includes the results from equity and debt investments related to the firm's global banking and markets activities, previously reported in Asset Management.
- Asset & Wealth Management is a new segment that includes the results previously reported in Asset Management and Wealth Management (previously included in Consumer & Wealth Management), and additionally includes the results from the firm's direct-to-consumer banking business, which includes lending, deposit-taking and investing, previously reported in Consumer & Wealth Management, as well as the results from middle-market lending related to the firm's asset management activities, previously reported in Investment Banking.
- Platform Solutions is a new segment that includes the results from the firm's consumer platforms, such as partnerships offering credit cards and point-of-sale financing, previously reported in Consumer & Wealth Management, and the results from the firm's transaction banking business, previously reported in Investment Banking.

The firm's three business segments are as follows:

Global Banking & Markets, which is comprised of:

- Investment banking fees, which includes:
 - Advisory, which includes strategic advisory assignments with respect to mergers and acquisitions, divestitures, corporate defense activities, restructurings and spin-offs.
 - Equity underwriting, which includes offerings of common stock, preferred stock, convertible securities and exchangeable securities.
 - Debt underwriting, which includes investment-grade and high-yield debt offerings, bank and bridge loans, and structuring of asset-backed securities.
- Fixed Income, Currency and Commodities (FICC), which includes:
 - FICC intermediation, which includes client execution activities related to making markets in interest rate products, credit products, mortgages, currencies and commodities.
 - FICC financing, which includes providing financing to clients through warehouse loans (backed by mortgages, corporate loans and consumer loans), structured credit, asset-backed lending and repurchase agreements.
- Equities, which includes:
 - Equities intermediation, which includes client execution activities related to making markets in equity products, as well as commissions and fees from executing and clearing institutional client transactions.
 - Equities financing, which includes prime brokerage and other equities financing activities, including securities lending, margin lending and swaps.
- Other, which includes relationship lending and acquisition financing (and related hedges), and investing activities related to the firm's global banking and markets activities.

Asset & Wealth Management, which is comprised of:

- Activities related to managing client assets across traditional and alternative assets classes, as well as providing investing and wealth advisory solutions, providing financial planning and counseling services, and executing brokerage transactions for wealth management clients. These activities generate:
 - Management and other fees.
 - Incentive fees.
- Private banking and lending, which includes lending and deposit-taking activities for the firm's wealth management clients, including the direct-to-consumer banking business.
- Equity investments, which includes investing activities related to the firm's asset management activities, primarily related to public and private equity investments in corporate, real estate and infrastructure entities, as well as making investments through consolidated investment entities, substantially all of which are engaged in real estate investment activities.
- Debt investments, which includes lending activities related to the firm's asset management activities, including investing in corporate debt, lending to middle-market clients and providing financing for real estate and other assets.

Platform Solutions, which is comprised of:

- Consumer platforms, which includes partnerships offering credit cards and point-of-sale financing.
- Transaction banking and other, which includes cash management services, such as deposit-taking and payment solutions for corporate and institutional clients.
